

Field Trip to Marquette University's Raynor Library:

Up Close and Personal with Medieval Manuscripts and from Incunables the Marquette University Special Collections. Limited to 25 participants. After an introduction by our Special Collections Curator, selections from the collection will be available for attendees to see, touch, and turn pages. Both illuminated manuscripts and incunabula (illuminated printed works from before 1501) are available for our study. Come with impeccably clean hands. Friday, June 7th from 1-4 p.m. Contact Mistress Mysie to be added to the list: Melissa.vigil@marquette.edu. Below are some images from our time in the special collections during the Northsheild Heralds and Scribes event in March of 2018.

(Side note, this library also has Tolkien's original manuscripts for the Lord of the Rings.)
